Text: Philippians 4:4-9 (p.982)

Worry thinks _____ of myself and _____ _____ of God.

The answer to worry isn't _____.

The invitation of Jesus isn't to "let go and let God." The invitation is to join Him in what He is doing, to _____ with Jesus. (Mt. 11:28-30)

We need to hear, receive, and learn what God has and then seek to put those things into _____.

And as we _____ these things, as we live by them, "the God of peace is with us."

Which is why we don't have to be anxious. God calls us to be responsible but not _____ responsible.

When we are living in worry, then what we are tending to believe is that life is about me and the _____ of life are _____ up to me.

Worry tends to begin to creep in when I put myself in the role of God and I take on _____ that are His alone to take. (1 Cor. 3:6-9)

Worry lessens, anxiety leaves, as I _____ about God and myself.
